

Figure 1. The effect of the concentration of the Agrobacterium suspension on the transformation efficiency of Agrobacterium strains. The Agrobacterium strains were grown in YEA medium for 24 h at 28°C. The cell concentration of the strains was adjusted to 10⁸ cells/ml. The cell suspension was mixed with the plant tissue and the transformation efficiency was determined. The results are the mean of three independent experiments. Error bars represent standard deviation.

excess of the monthly projection of $18,150, shall be modified to provide as follows:

- a. With respect to the payment of one-half of the excess for the month of October 2001, which is the sum of $4,793.73, debtors shall pay Key Bank one-half thereof, namely, the sum of $2,396.87;
 - b. Commencing with the month of November 2001 and continuing through the month of February 2002, instead of paying one-half of the excess funds over $18,150 to Key Bank, the amount of the debtors' payment to the Trustee shall be increased from $1,405 to $2,000 per month; and
 - c. Commencing with the month of March 2002, the provisions for payment of one-half of the proceeds in excess of $18,150 to Key Bank shall be reinstated. However, debtors reserve the right to file a motion to modify the plan at that time and seek to modify the terms of the plan as to the provisions for payment to Key Bank, and allow the Court to determine whether such motion is appropriate at that juncture.
2. That the excess funds which otherwise would have been paid to Key Bank during the months of November and December 2001 and January and February 2002 shall be used by the debtors to satisfy outstanding accounts payable incurred for fertilizer, chemicals, seed, and livestock purchases. The debtors' monthly reports to the Trustee shall note how said funds are used.
